FEDERAL PLANNING DIVISION

The Federal Planning Division oversees acquisition and construction programs of Federal agencies in the National Capital Region, and reviews site and building plans for Federal installations within the National Capital Region.

Federal park, parkway, and playground proposals are examined by the Federal Planning Division. This Division reviews and recommends all general project and development plans for stream valley parks in Maryland and Virginia to be acquired with Federal funds.

The Federal Planning Division prepares long-range Federal employment plans with the assistance of the Regional Affairs Division. These plans become part of the Comprehensive Plan.

OFFICE OF PROJECT DESIGN

The Project Design Office is primarily concerned with detailed project site plans for small areas within the National Capital Region.

Major responsibilities of this office include advice and technical assistance to the District, Federal and Urban Renewal Planning Divisions in the design review of projects submitted to the Commission and current studies by these divisions. Upon request of the Commission, the Project Design Office also initiates and prepares special design studies. Finally, it reviews and in some cases supervises studies undertaken by consultants to the Commission.
